Hi, I'm Rachel Schofield

Frontend Developer, based in the UK

In 2022 I returned to Web Development having last been a web developer in Ireland back in 2001.

I used to work with HTML, PostgreSQL and PHP, but as there's so much new to learn and I enjoy the look and feel side of things, I've decided to specialise in front-end development.

Check out some of my projects

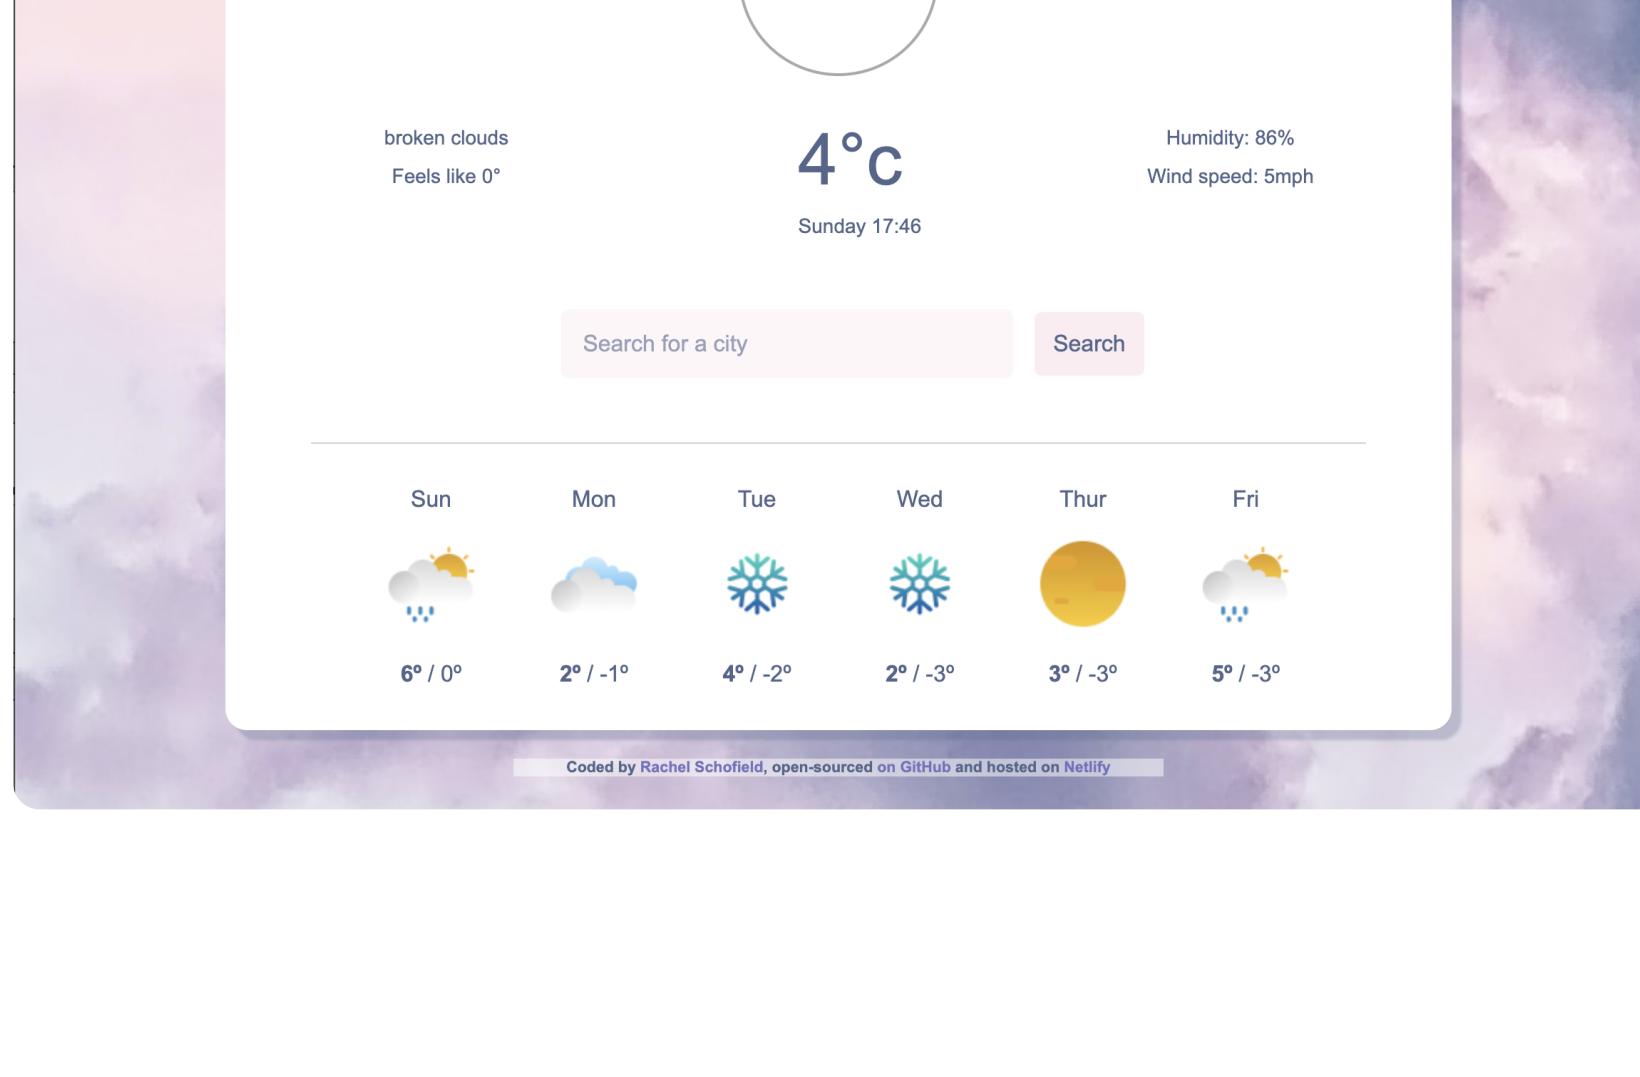

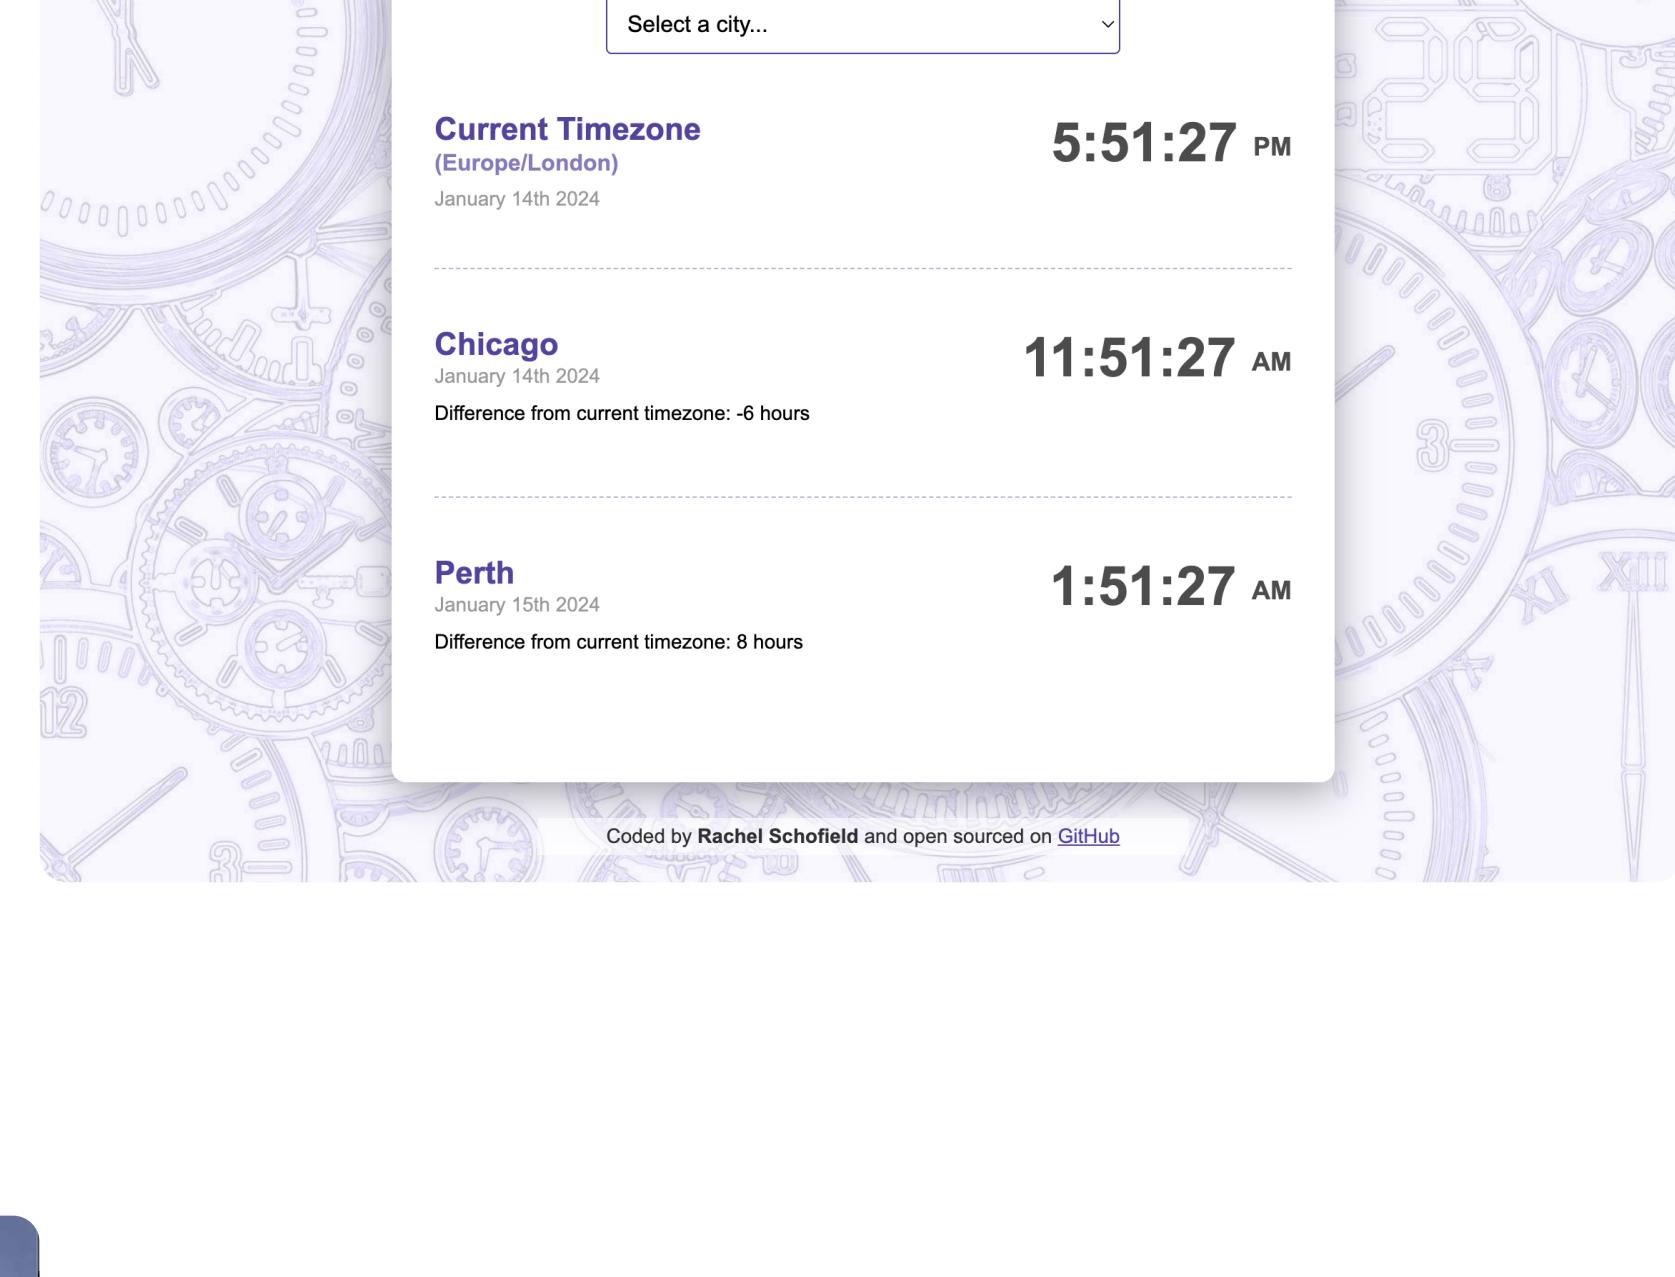

AI Pub Quiz Question Generator

An app using HTML, CSS and JavaScript. The app connects to an AI API and returns three quiz questions and answers on the topic provided by the user. The data is displayed using a JS typewriter plugin. The page layout adjusts to accommodate the questions and answers as they are 'typed'.

World Clock Timezone App

An app using HTML, CSS and JavaScript. The app connects to Moment.js and Moment Timezone and returns the correct date, time and timezone. The difference from the current timezone is also included as a useful feature, and on the homepage the seconds are kept up to date.

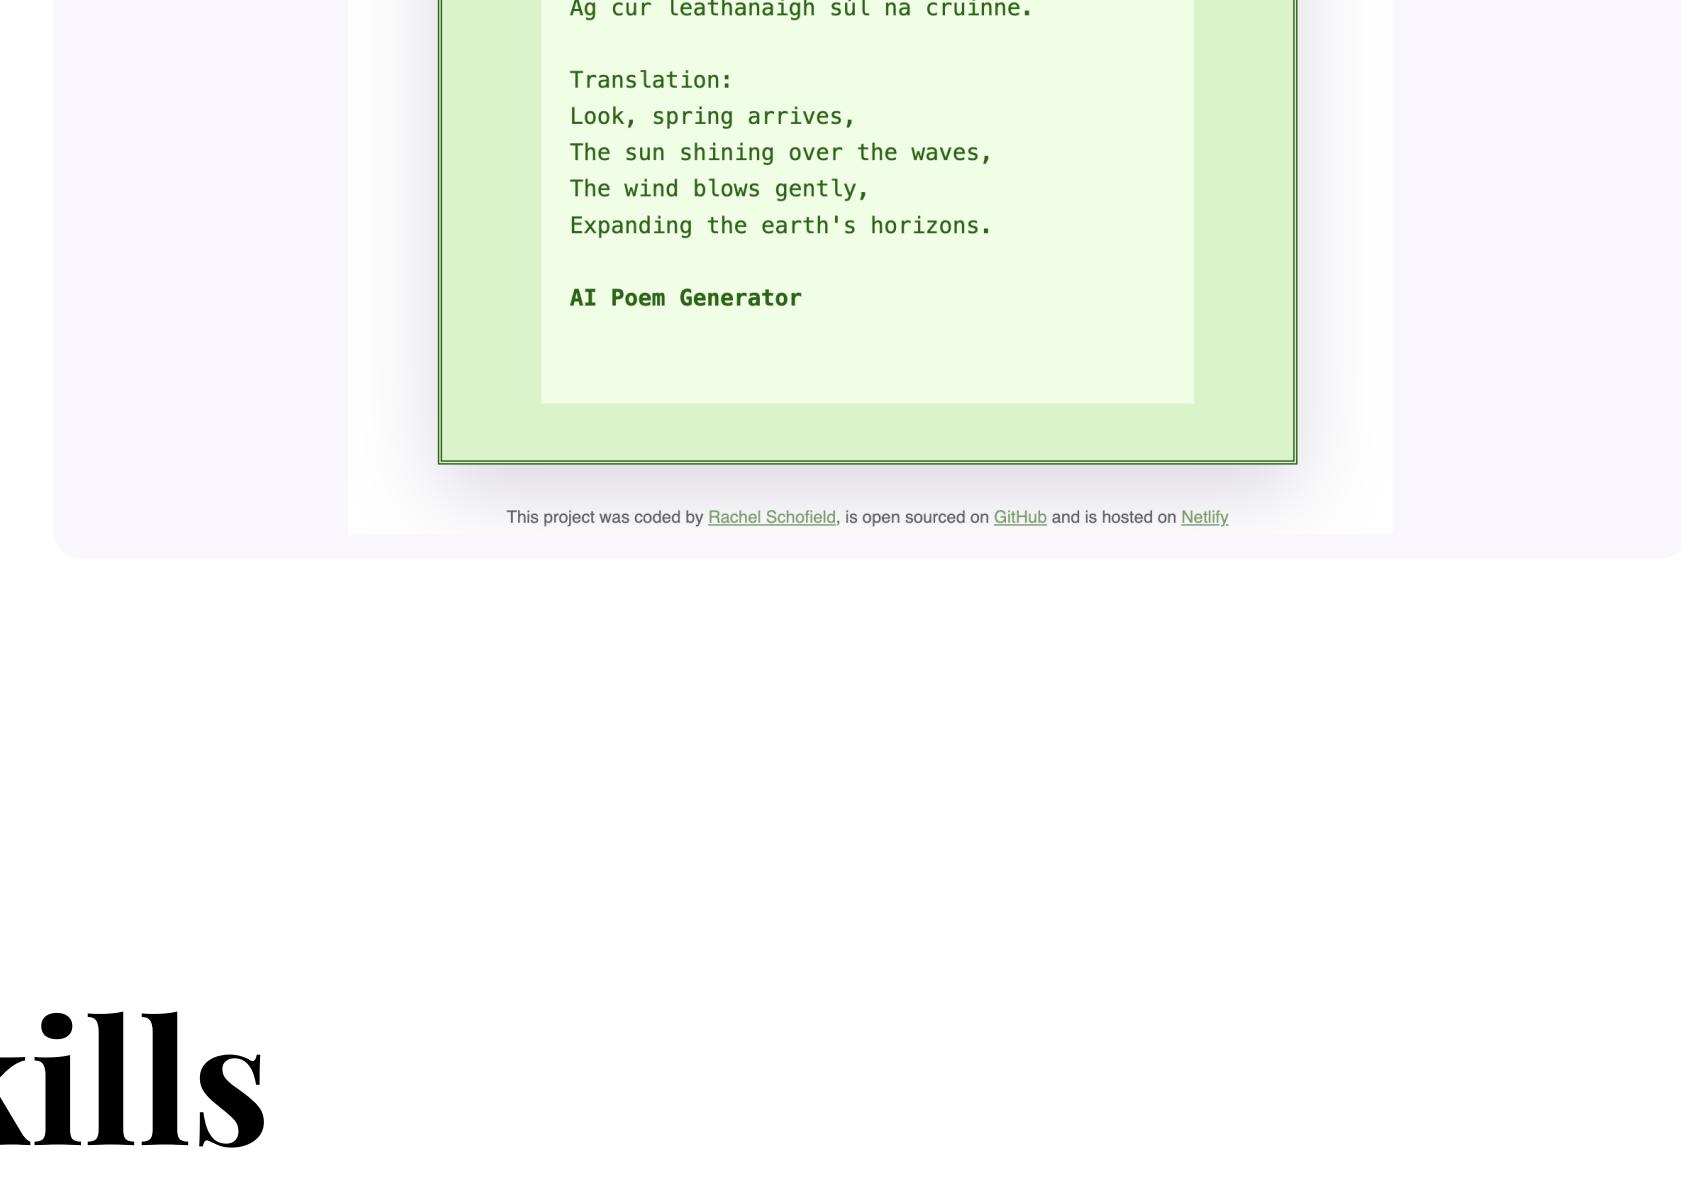

Weather App

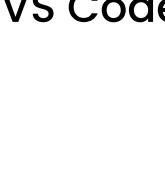

An app using HTML, CSS and JavaScript. The app connects to a weather API and returns the weather data for whatever city is searched for. It includes a six day forecast.

Irish Poem Generator

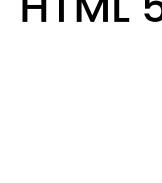

An app using HTML, CSS and JavaScript. The app connects to an AI API and returns a poem based on the user's search term. The poem is displayed using a JS typewriter plugin, first in Irish, and then translated into English.
